house that his mother was born in. He died April 15, 1936. He came to America in 1862 along with his mother, four brothers and three sisters. His father had been killed in the coal mines a few months before they left Scotland. As a young man he worked in the coal mines in Wyoming and the silver mines in Park City. In 1875 he married Sarah Jane Thompson in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City. He grubbed the sage and made a good farm in Center Creek. He held the offices of registration officer, road supervisor, constable, justice of the peace, school trustee, city marshal, deputy sheriff and crop and weed inspector.

Sarah Jane Thompson Lindsay was born at Provo Dec. 27, 1857, to William and Sarah Fenn Thompson. She died at Heber Dec. 4, 1932. She was the oldest of 15 children. Her mother made hats from grass fibers to sell and Sarah would sit in the moonlight and help her braid them. Her father sit by with his gun to protect them from prowling Indians. Sarah was a perfect homemaker and a good cook. She cooked for most of the weddings and public receptions that were held in Prydes Hall in Center Creek.

Andrew and Sarah Jane had ten children. Lizzie, Sadie, William, Jane, Thomas, Teenie, Robert, Violet, Dora and Mary.

Heber Selects New Police Chief

13 June 1985

HEBER CITY (June 5) - At a special council meeting this evening the Heber City Council selected James J. Matthews of Phoenix, Arizona to be the city's new Chief of Police.

Matthew's appointment was the culmination of a long and intensive search by the city in its efforts to fill the vacant post. Members of the Council and those involved in the selection process were impressed with the qualifications and credentials presented by applicants for the post. Over forty applications were reviewed by Councilman Scott Wright and he and the rest of the Council were unanimous in their opinion that the final selection was one of the most difficult decisions they have made to date.

The new Chief brings to Heber over twenty three years of law enforcement covering a broad range of experience from patrolman to supervisory positions. At the present time he is the Civilian Accident Investigator for the City of Mesa, Arizona.

Chief Matthews will officially begin his duties on June 24. "Jim", as he likes to be called, is looking forward to living and working in Heber. "I'm excited about the move to Utah," he states. "All our children are married and living here so we look forward to settling down and being near them."

Police Chief, James J. Matthews
